Hudson, NY: Roshkowska Galleries presents an exhibition of new works by Polish -American artist Jerzy Kubina. The exhibition opens August 1 and runs through August 31.

Opening Reception: August 1, 2015 5-7 pm

"I do not limit myself to a classical representation of an image. I'm in constant search for new media which not only enriches the subject, but also inspires me to new forms of expression. Visual appreciation is a creative exercise performed in a specified time, and a specific emotional state. The subject must be individual and unique.

I do not attempt to keep a tight rein on my art's framework, but give myself the opportunity to individualize each of the works.

My present concerns are of the sacred and the profane, always longing for harmony, accompanied by destruction and devastation, my inner world translates that pulse into color images. My new works are a continuation of the process of creating art for art's sake."

-Jerzy Kubina
